Valentine Selling Agent For Synthetics

Cone Mills Inc. announced last Friday the appointment of J. W. Valentine Co., Inc. of 40 Worth Street, New York City, as selling agents for the synthetic greige goods production of the Revolution 2 Division of Cone Mills Corporation (Revolution Rayon Plant).

The Revolution Plant No. 2 is one of the most modern and best equipped in the South, set up to produce synthetic blends for styled fabrics going to the various trades. The selling of this production in the greige to converters by Valentine will increase the scope of this concern's operation by adding substantial production of box loom spun synthetic fabrics.

3,660,000 members of the Boy Scouts of America now belong to 95,000 units.

Daily News Features Cone Mills President

Cone Mills Corporation's President Herman Cone was the subject of a full-page feature story in last Sunday's Greensboro Daily News. Written by Daily News staff writer Jacob Hay, the article is one of a series on outstanding North Carolina personalities.

Photographs, illustrating the article, two of which are reprinted opposite, show Mr. Cone in his office, in the plant and in the research laboratory. They also show the company's co-founders, the late Caesar Cone and Moses Cone. (Moses Cone is memorialized by his widow, the late Bertha Lindsay Cone in the Moses H. Cone Memorial Hospital.) An aerial view of five Greensboro plants is also shown.

The article begins with quotations from the letter of Joseph Rosengart of Bittenhausen, Bavaria to his young brother-in-law Herman Cone I when he departed for the United States in 1846, and with a surmise as to the effect of that letter of advice upon the development of Greensboro.

The story then gives a character study of the company president who succeeded his uncle, Bernard M. Cone, who was president from 1917 to 1938 and chairman of the board from 1938 to 1950.

A brief history of the Cone Mills and a review of company policies round out the article.

Keep G'boro. Ahead Program To Start

Next week special teams will start their solicitations of present and prospective members of the Chamber of Commerce to raise a proposed budget of $83,000 for the Chamber's new "Keep Greensboro Ahead" program.

Operating in recent years on less than $47,000 annually, the Chamber of Commerce has kept pace with the competition of neighboring cities. Last fall, under President Caesar Cone, the organization drew up a program that covers civic, industrial, religious, and agricultural aspects in an effective promotion plan for the city to last for years. To carry out this program requires a substantial raise in the budget. Two more departments, Industrial and Trade Promotion, are also planned for the Chamber staff.

The additional funds are being sought by an increase in membership dues from $25 to $40 per year, securing new members, and asking some present members to increase the amounts of their subscriptions. For several weeks preparatory activities have been laying the groundwork for the membership campaign: volunteer leaders have been conducting meetings of classified business groups to ex-

Entre Nous' Hear WAC's War-time Woes

Helen Smith kept Entre Nous Clubbers laughing Friday with the reading of portions of her letters written while a member of the WAC in World War II. The letters which begin with her enlistment in 1942 and continue through her service in North Africa, describe the activities and living conditions of women soldiers during the war. Time did not permit completion of the reading, therefore it is expected that it will be continued at the next meeting.

Business at that time will include the election of officers and the discussion of plans for the annual Bosses Luncheon. Planning committee is made up of Alice Long, Vivian Edwards, Louise Tucker, Jean Hedrick and Jackie Haislip.

Nominating committee consists of Margaret Bradford, Carolyn Smith, Becky Ballard, Sarah Haislip and Mable Ligon.

Mrs. Audree Anthony, president, discussed various plans to expand membership of the Entre Nous Club. All women employed in the Cone Mills offices are eligible.

Ministers Hear Talk On Brotherhood

Rev. Irving E. Birdseye, pastor of Guilford Park Presbyterian Church, was the Brotherhood Week speaker for Textile Ministerial Association at lunch last Wednesday. He was introduced by H. M. Angel, secretary of Cone Memorial YMCA.

"Sometime I think we are the gentle people of prejudice," declared Rev. Mr. Birdseye. "We cover ourselves with an umbrella which protects us from knowing the full impact of the personality of each individual regardless of his race, creed or color."

"We do an injustice not only to the ones we would shut out but also to ourselves," he declared.

The speaker pointed out how prejudices have been different in different times, and how even today they are different in different places. Not until fairly recently in the history did racial prejudice take form. The prejudices that existed in ancient times resulted from groups desiring to keep themselves ethnically pure. Today's prejudices are a product of the movement of vast numbers of people causing a rising feeling of distrust and superiority to those indigenous to the conquered areas, he said.

The minister pointed out that discrimination against certain people detracts from their contributions to society and creates a fence around those who discriminate. "The nature of true brotherhood is the nature of Jesus himself, who was a brother to all men," he concluded.

Edna Plant Has 34 Perfect Attenders

Thirty-four at Edna Plant, Reidsville, attended their jobs every work day during 1954. Superintendent C. L. Jolly sent the following congratulations:

"Our records show that during 1954 you were at work every scheduled day. This is a record of which you can be justly proud. I want to take this opportunity to congratulate you on your outstanding record."

"By being on your job every day you have done your part in making the Edna Plant a better place in which to work. You have set a record that is truly an example for others to follow. These are trying times for all of us in textiles, and it is only through our continued efforts to work together that we will go forward in the future."

"Again let me thank you for your cooperation and effort during 1954. I hope that 1955 will be a good year for all of us at the Edna Plant."

"Yours very truly,

New Steps Launched In Working Together

Last Friday in an interview Vice President Clarence Cone stated, "We're real pleased with the supervisory and employee research that's been going on at White Oak." "About six weeks ago," he said, "We asked Community Surveys Inc. to help us get a line on how our people felt we could improve operations and make White Oak a better place to work." "We figured," Mr. Cone pointed out, "that we might find lots of useful ideas and that's exactly what happened."

"Supervisors and employees were chosen at random from every department by the research firm; in all about 150 people were interviewed in individual meetings that lasted in many cases up to an hour." "The interviews were completely confidential and the report to us in management told what was said but not who said it."

"Naturally," Mr. Cone indicated, "We found we had problems and complaints as well as ideas and suggestions." "But," he pointed out, "we in management feel we can over a period of time correct many of the difficulties faced." "As one example," he said, "last week the board of directors authorized a cooling system for the Weave Room which will help quality on the one hand, and on the other make the working conditions much more pleasant. Another step we are taking is to have groups of employees see the operations following their own." "This," he emphasized, "will reveal possible 'trouble areas.' As each group understands how their work affects others, it will improve both our product and

"In discussing the idea of 'working together' Chester Arnold, personnel director, said, 'The future success of our company will be determined by the cooperation of the people who make up Cone Mills. By working together, we expect to make good products which will sell at prices our customers are willing to pay, so that we can provide steady employment, job security and opportunities for advancement within our company.'"

Not A Face Saving Step

In some respects the American public is alerted to certain dangers which exist today in and around Formosa. Naturally, the full details as to the President's plan of strategy following the authorities given him by the United States Congress are not generally known, and we are not questioning the wisdom in withholding the administration's plans, for publicity of same would certainly alert Red China and Russia, and thereby give them a blue print of our strategy.

As serious as the situation now is, we do not feel that the public is sufficiently acquainted with the whys and wherefores of the entire problem. Many are wondering why Formosa means so much to us.

Modern science has brought the Far East much closer to the United States than were the South American countries when the Monroe Doctrine was put into effect. This analogy is of the utmost importance, for unquestionably some people are wondering why we do not "leave Asia alone for the Asians." "Why should we be so concerned about the fate of Formosa?" However, the same questioners would look upon it differently if they in turn were asked about the Philippine Islands or Hawaii. If Formosa were to become a part of Red China or the communist world, the Philippine Islands, and later the Hawaiian Islands, would be in great jeopardy to say nothing of the other territories which are now under the control of our government.

It is well also not to forget that Formosa was not captured and taken away from China during World War II, and therefore based on recent history China's claim to Formosa is erroneous.

Our present modes of transportation and communications have so lessened distances that geographical locations do not have the significance they had even twenty-five years ago. Furthermore, the birth of atomic energy has completely changed the entire international picture.

For those reasons, isolationism is impossible. We might as well recognize that fact. At the same time, we cannot blind our eyes to the dangers of peace at any price, for peace at any price could well mean communist enslavement of the entire world including ourselves.

We all hope and pray that hostilities can be avoided in the Far East. We must also accept as a fact that the relinquishing of Formosa to the communists could be very dangerous. It is not a matter of face-saving—it could be the vital point in preserving our other territories and millions of people from an onrushing communist movement. It could mean the plugging of a leak in the dike which contains freedom.

SCOUTS OBSERVE 45th BIRTHDAY

OFFICIAL BOY SCOUT WEEK POSTER

Boy Scout Week, Feb. 6 to 12, marking the 45th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, will be observed throughout the nation by more than 3,660,000 boys and adult leaders. Since 1910, more than 22,750,000 boys and men have been members.

"Building for a Better Tomorrow" is the birthday theme. Members of 95,000 Units, through demonstrations and exhibits, will dramatize the purpose of Scouting and the rich heritage it has in this country.

Boy Scout Week marks the completion of the first year of the National Conservation Good Turn the organization has undertaken at the request of President Eisenhower. Units which have qualified will receive National Conservation Good Turn Certificates of Merit awarded jointly by the Secretaries of Agriculture and the Interior, Ezra Taft Benson and Douglas McKay, respectively.

Boy Scouts Celebrate 45th Anniversary

Through many varied activities the nation's 3,660,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers and adult leaders are observing the 45th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America during Boy Scout Week, February 6 to 12, with its theme, "Building for a Better Tomorrow."

Boy Scout Week is the largest annual single observance by young citizens. Since Scouting's incorporation in Washington, D. C., on February 8, 1910 more than 22,750,000 boys and leaders have been enrolled.

The 95,000 Units in all parts of the nation, its territories and overseas bases, will dramatize through demonstrations, exhibits, window displays, and "pot luck" dinners with parents participating the purpose of Scouting and the rich heritage it has in this country.

Boy Scout Week completes the National Conservation Good Turn the Scouts have undertaken at the request of President Eisenhower.

their Honorary President. Members will report to their sponsoring institutions and public officials their accomplishments in arousing "public recognition of the need for adequate protection and wise management of our soil, water, mineral, forest, grassland and wildlife resources."

President Eisenhower will honor in the White House during Boy Scout Week the 12 Boy Scouts and Explorers having the most outstanding records of conservation.

Throughout the nation Scout Units which qualified are to receive National Conservation Good Turn Certificates of Merit awarded jointly by Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture and Douglas McKay, Secretary of the Interior.

Most of the nation's 32,000 Cub Packs with 1,160,000 members will hold Blue and Gold Pot Luck "banquets" with each family bringing a part of the menu. They are the 8, 9 and 10-year old members who follow a home-centered program in their homes and backyards.

The Cub Scouts will have "Let Freedom Ring" as their Boy Scout Week program, with the February birthdays of Washington, Lincoln and the late Lord Robert Baden-Powell, founder of Scouting, as subjects of their dramatizations and story telling. Cub Scouts will honor their older members as they "graduate" into Boy Scout Troops. There will be skits, songs and games.

At "Our Heritage" celebrations in most of the 51,000 Troops who have 1,130,000 members, the lives of the three men will be portrayed to show how they lived the ideals embodied in the Scout Oath and Laws.

Scouts will install window displays of handicraft and their conservation achievements with appeals to the public to help conserve America's natural resources. In many assemblies they will put on Boy Scout demonstrations. Some will entertain children in hospitals with songs, stunts, tricks and games.

Explorers in many communities will spend part of a day with conservation officials to learn how to conserve today's resources for a better tomorrow.

The 410,000 Explorers, members of 12,000 Units, boys 14 years of age and older, follow a program of adventuring in the open; getting along socially with others; being of service to others and exploring and exploring life work possibilities.

Some will "fill" government positions an hour or two to learn the functions of public office. At high schools many will use recess periods to demonstrate tree planting and outdoor manners and also erect school conservation exhibits.

Boy Scout Sunday will be observed February 6 in thousands of churches with Scouts and leaders attending services in uniform. Those of Jewish faith will observe Boy Scout Sabbath in synagogues and temples Friday evening and Saturday, February 4 and 5.

Traditionally on February 8, all members recommitted themselves to the Scout Oath or Promise at 8:15 p.m., in the four time zones.

Thursday Night League

Thursday night the Lucky Strikers, bowling a 1253 set, lampooned the Pin Poppers at White Oak. The Pin Poppers bowled a most consistent set with games of 391, 392, and 393, but managed, nevertheless, to lose three games. What To View
On Channel 2

This Saturday is Lincoln's birthday, and in honor of the great American statesman, Saturday and Sunday's programs are largely devoted to Lincoln. Saturday at 10:30 p.m., "Four Star Playhouse" presents Dick Powell in "Fair Trail." In the role of a news reporter assigned to report the details of a small town lynching, Powell brings out some of Lincoln's principles of fairness and the equality of all men.

Sunday at 1:30 o'clock, "You Are There" for the historic moment of the "Signing of the Declaration of Independence." With Walter Cronkite's able narration, the events of the day are telecast from the State House in Philadelphia where the Congress met on July 4, 1776. Over almost insurmountable differences of opinion, the Declaration is at last signed and America becomes a free country!

The local civic project, "Keep Greensboro Ahead" will be explained in a half-hour program seen at 2:00 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. The participants in the program are Huger King, president of the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce; two members of the board of directors, Hoyt W. Boone, and Arnold Shiffman; and Herb Bailey, the executive vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce. In an effort to make Greensboro one of the South's most beautiful cities, the "Keep Greensboro Ahead" program tells citizens what the group wants to accomplish, and gives them suggestions for beautifying their part of the city.

Dr. Frank Baxter of "Now and Then," Sunday at 3:00 p.m., discusses the lyric poetry of Shakespeare's contemporaries. The poets of the age, including even the Queen, might have been outstanding in any other time, but in the late 16th Century were overshadowed by the Bard's genius. Dr. Baxter will not only amuse viewers, but lift some of the fine poets from some of the surrounding oblivion.

"TV Reader's Digest" stars distinguished Broadway actor Richard Gaines in the role of Abraham Lincoln in the teleplay, "How Chance Made Lincoln President." Sunday at 4:00 p.m., the five little-known incidents which led to the presidency are shown. A lecture in New York, the failure of Robert Lincoln to pass his entrance exams to Harvard, the inspiring fact that Abe once split rails, a printer's failure to keep his promise, and a midnight conspiracy all add up to Abraham Lincoln. "How Chance Made Him President."

Irving Stone's best-selling novel about Mary Todd Lincoln has been dramatized into "Love is Eternal" for "Sunday Theatre" Sunday evening at 9:00 o'clock. Starring Teresa Wright and Richard Boone as Lincoln and his lovely wife, the story shows how they slowly drifted apart over the years of their marriage, until sudden happenings caused them to find each other again.

A train stops, a tall gaunt man gets off the coach and walks to the sheriff's darkened office . . . to kill him. The sheriff is found the next day; the only clues are a broken silver spur and a 20-year-old letter signed "Zack." With these sparse clues and a child's chance discovery, "Studio One" makes "Broken Spur" with Paul Langton, Royal Dano, Van Dyke Parks, and Georgann Johnson, an exciting and entertaining drama!

DOGS

by Tony Manning

Raising The Young

Many parents would find it easier to rear their first child successfully if they had practiced first on a puppy. An infant dog and an infant child are remarkably alike in every essential respect, even including the problem of education in polite manners. And the advantage of learning the fundamentals of the care and education of a child by first caring for a puppy is that in one short year the dog has gone through all the stages that a child traverses on his way to his teens.

We'll assume that both child and puppy come from healthy stalwart stock and have no in-born personality faults. Their basic needs are the same — warmth, affection, a sense of security, and plenty of good nourishing food; to be kept clean and well groomed; to be schooled to regular habits; to be kept free from parasites and protected against disease; to be permitted to play hard when they play but not to get rambunctiously out of hand or be spoiled into becoming brats; and to have plenty of undisturbed rest. They must be taught to do what they are told without argument, and not to be an annoyance to neighbors, relatives, or visiting friends. And to eat a balanced ration without quibble, in sufficient quantities to support growth and staunch health.

Millions of words are written every year about the care of both dogs and children, and many of them are worth reading. However, as a starter, for the puppy, we can recommend a little pamphlet that is available without charge. Called "The Care and Training of Puppies," it can be had by simply writing Pard Department, Swift & Company, Chicago 9, Illinois. This will get you started with the puppy and the puppy will help you get started with the baby.

Predicts Continued
Textile Recovery

NEW YORK—Continued recovery in the textile markets, with better merchandising, improved earnings, steadier employment, and a production rise of 5 to 10 per cent were predicted for first half 1955 and probably for the full year by W. Ray Bell, president, The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York, last Tuesday. President of Cone Mills Inc. Saul F. Dribben, board chairman of the association, presided at the meeting.

In his report to the Association's annual meeting Mr. Bell estimated production of cotton textiles in 1954 at 9,794,000 linear yards, down 4 per cent from 1953, an adjustment made necessary by the continuation of depressed conditions from 1953 and over much of 1954. He warned of the grave dangers to textiles arising from increased Japanese imports, and from government moves further to reduce tariffs from their already inadequate level.

Noting that customer policies of liquidation and close hand-to-mouth buying in textiles had run their course by the beginning of the last quarter of 1954, Mr. Bell remarked that "many customers in all divisions of product have resumed policies of forward purchases, to anticipate reasonably sure future needs and with confidence that price trends will move upward. This optimism is grounded in their own satisfactory business and future prospects." Wholesale prices of cotton goods in December, he noted, were 10 per cent under the 1947-49 average, contrasting with other manufactured goods averaging 14 to 15 per cent higher, and are consequently attractive to the trade.

Referring to the industry's tariff problems, Mr. Bell stated that existing duties are already entirely inadequate to deal with steadily rising monthly imports from Japan. Goods come in freely, paying the present low rates, and the pattern is very similar to that in the 1930s which resulted in the Roosevelt administration boosting tariffs on the bleached items which accounted for most of the pre-war trade.

Today such takings are concentrated in gray fabric, but include a very wide range of other textiles and apparel. Such goods find a market solely on a basis of discounting the American price, and can do so solely because Japan's wage rates are but a tenth those in this country. Moves of the Government to cut tariffs further mean the undermining of American jobs and living standards as the price of building up Japanese trade which would be better directed at the ill clothed areas of the East.

Little Talks
With Big Thoughts

When the Headmaster came to the school, he found that at different times of the day and during the various seasons of the year, his office was protected from the strong rays of the sun by the leaves of a large and beautiful maple tree. It also served another purpose; it reminded him that the boys being educated and trained under his guidance, like the tree, must be prepared to resolutely meet the varied storms of life. The tree became a symbol of protection, inspiration and strength.

Although it was no longer young, the tree seemed to go from year to year without change until one day a bolt of lightning tore away its largest limb and did other damage. From that point on it began to deteriorate, and finally the day came when it had to be removed. The Headmaster regretted the step, but knew it was necessary. He realized that while it would no longer actually be present, its value as a spiritual inspiration would always remain in the minds of those to whom, like himself, the tree was symbolic of the better things of life.

Many persons have through their good deeds and thoughts become symbols of the finer attributes of man. It should be the aspiration of every man and woman to achieve such a distinction.

A Noteworthy
Birthday

We salute the Boy Scouts of America on its 45th birthday, now being observed during Boy Scout Week, February 6 to 12.

Since its founding in 1910 the organization has enriched the lives of over 22,750,000 boys and adult leaders. Truly Scouting represents a living section of American life.

Boys every race, religion and economic background are attracted to Scouting. Today we find 2,700,000 boys in its ranks. Add to that impressive figure the 960,000 adults of good character who give generously of their time and talents to serve as leaders of units, Merit

Badge Counselors and in many other capacities. There is hardly an American family that has not felt its influence.

Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, the Chief Executive, a leader in the organization since 1913, feels that it is of vital importance to train the boys of today to be ready for positions of leadership as they grow to manhood.

"Strong character, participating citizenship and physical fitness," he says, are needs of our boys and young men who are served by the program of Scouting in cooperation with the home, the school, the church, and all other community institutions actively interested in training our future citizens."

Scouting's purpose, stated in the Federal Charter granted by Congress in 1916, is to promote the "ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in Scoutcraft, and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance and kindred virtues."

Every member of the nation's 95,000 Scouting Units is indeed "having some kind of experience that is adding to his equipment to meet the problems of adult life."

It is that training that we heartily endorse on this noteworthy birthday.

Eating Between Deals

All the way from the playground in your own basement to the near-sacred confines of New York's famous card clubs, card players like to eat. Think back to the last time Bridge or Poker or the new game of Calypso was played in your house and you'll remember that somewhere between ten and eleven o'clock everybody — yourself included — got hungry.

One of the favorite between-deal snacks served in a famous New York bridge club is lemon cheese pie. The club prides itself on having among its members the best bridge players in the world and the food is as good as the card playing.

There's a new recipe leaflet that will give you nine first-class ideas of what to serve when people come in for the evening to play cards. "Fast and Fancy for Dessert," it's called—and very important among the recipes is one for lemon cheese pie, a recipe that you'll find ever so easy to put together.

Lemon Cheese Pie
Crust — 2 cups graham cracker crumbs; ½ cup melted margarine;

½ cup sugar.
Combine graham cracker crumbs, sugar and margarine, blending thoroughly. Firmly press graham cracker mixture onto bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. Chill in the refrigerator until ready to use.

Filling — 1 package lemon pie filling; ½ cup sugar; 2 cups cold water; 1 slightly beaten egg; ¼ cup margarine; 1 cup (8 ounces) creamed cottage cheese, sieved; ½ cup well drained, canned crushed pineapple.

Empty lemon pie filling into a saucepan. Mix in sugar. Gradually add cold water and egg, stirring to keep mixture smooth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils once and capsule dissolves. Remove from heat. Stir in margarine, cottage cheese and crushed pineapple, blending well. Pour mixture into chilled crust. Chill until firm, about 4 hours.

The booklet is free. Anyone who would like a copy of "Fast and Fancy for Dessert" may obtain one by sending a request to Room 1062, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York 17, New York.

The Boy Scout's magazine, "Boys' Life" now has over a million circulation each month.
